Future Governance Models of the European Universities

(Link: <https://revistas.ulusofona.pt/index.php/ijfma/announcement/view/154>)

Editor: Manuel José Damásio

One of the main goals of the European Universities Initiative is to establish transnational alliances of higher education institutions from across the EU that share a long-term strategy focussed on sustainability, excellence, inclusiveness, mobility and European values. One of the main challenges to be addressed by these alliances concerns the definition of governance and management structures, not only during the pilot period but also in the long run. Although a variety of models have already been implemented inside the existing alliances, several issues remain to be clarified, specially outside the alliances and related with their legal statute in the European arena for education and research transformation.

To discuss these issues and further deepen the reflection around the European Universities Initiative, the FilmEU alliance is organising a conference entitled “Future Governance models of the European Universities” that will take place in Brussels, Belgium on the 5th of May 2022.

Call for proposals

This conference intends to bring together different stakeholders around the European Universities Initiative and to promote an open debate about governance models and management structures of the future European Universities, and the challenges and problems associated with their implementation. Hence, we welcome film-makers, artists and researchers to submit papers that deal with but are not limited to the following topics:

- European Universities Initiative
- Legal status of European Universities
- Governance models of European Universities
- Management structures of European Universities

Keywords: European Universities, legal status, governance models, management structures

The best full papers presented at the conference will be later published in a special issue of the International Journal of Film and Media Arts (IJFMA Vol. 7 No. 3) to be published by the end of 2022.

Abstracts to be submitted by 3rd April 2022.
